

There is a limit of 7 pages or 5000 words (whichever is shorter). References do not contribute to page or word count but more than 1 page of references is not recommended. A maximum of 5 figures or tables must be respected, which must be stored in the repository.

[Manuscript Title: A Concise and Descriptive Title]

[Author 1, Author 2, Author 3]

[Department, Institution, City, Country]

Abstract

[Provide a structured abstract covering Background, Results, and Conclusions (Max 350 words).]

Keywords

[Keyword 1, Keyword 2, Keyword 3, Keyword 4, Keyword 5]

Background

[Explain the background to the study, its aims, and research gap.]

Results

[Present your findings. Use subheadings as needed.]

Discussion

[Discuss implications, compare with existing research, and highlight limitations.]

Conclusions

[State the main conclusions and their significance.]

Methods

[Provide technical details for reproducibility: Data Sources, Implementation, Statistical Analysis.]

Abbreviations

[List abbreviations used, e.g., AI: Artificial Intelligence.]

Declarations

Availability of data and materials: [Statement on repository/access]

Authors' contributions: [Specify roles]

References

1. Author A, Author B. Title. BMC Bioinformatics. Year;Vol:Pages.

References should be the same style as the template (journal Bioinformatics). You will find the reference guide below:

Mini Oxford SCIMED REFERENCE STYLE

- References are listed alphabetically by author surname.
- Journal article: Kennedy T, Jones R. Effect of obesity on esophageal transit. Am J Surg 1985;149:177–81.
- Book: Long HC, Blatt MA, Higgins MC et al. Medical Decision Making. Boston: Butterworth-Heinemann, 1997.
- Book chapter: Manners T, Jones R, Riley M. Relationship of overweight to hiatus hernia and reflux oesophagitis. In: Newman W (ed.), The Obesity Conundrum. Amsterdam: Elsevier Science, 1997, 352–74.
- Websites: Public Health Laboratory Service. Antimicrobial Resistance in 2000: England and Wales. http://www.hpa.org.uk/infections/topics\_az/antimicrobial\_resistance/amr.pdf (7 January 2004, date last accessed).
- When there are 4 or more authors, list the first author name followed by et al.
- Page spans are elided (e.g., 213–5 and 137–87, 1185–2042).
- Latin phrase ibid is discouraged

IN TEXT CITATIONS

- In-text citation: (Smith 1994)
- List multiple citations chronologically: (Smith 2015, Wong 2015, Patel 2016)

QUOTATIONS

- Quotations over 4 lines are pulled out of the text, single-spaced, and indented.
- Single quotation marks are used. Quotes within quotes use double quotation marks.

ABBREVIATIONS

- Abbreviations are defined at first mention in both the abstract and the text.
- Units of measure are shortened (e.g. km)
- In running text, spell out US states. In addresses, two-letter abbreviations should be used.

SPELLING

Oxford English Dictionary, <https://www.oed.com/>, UK spelling, -ize

PUNCTUATION

- Oxford/serial comma is required.
- No comma after i.e. and e.g.; used within parentheses.
- “e.g.” not “eg.”

NUMBERS AND DATES

- Spell out numbers less than 10, use numerals for 10 and above.
- Thousand separator is a thin space for 10 000 and above.
- Dates are given in the format: day month year, 23 July 2019